Gold Party Canada is not your average home party.

Here are five reasons why:

ambassador

- 1 Instead of trying to sell you yet another product you don't really need, we buy the gold jewellery you don't really want. The looks on the faces of the hundreds of women who have attended our Gold Parties says it all – making money is so much better than spending it!
- 2 With gold at a 30-year high, it's definitely time to sell – a fact that has spawned countless "cash for gold" TV commercials and countless more horror stories from people who mailed away their gold and hoped for a fair offer.
We believe in doing business the right way.
Gold Party Canada's expert team of appraisers provide an extremely precise and completely transparent valuation of your gold jewellery – right in front of you with on-the-spot payment.
- 3 There's great financial incentive to selling your unwanted gold jewellery at these record prices, but what many people don't realize is that the environmental benefits can be just as great. Gold mining is among the most destructive ecological practices, creating significant waste and displacing wildlife.
When you sell your unwanted gold jewellery at a Gold Party Canada Gold Party, you instantly become part of the solution. All of your items are recycled and kept in circulation.
- 4 Through its many Gold Party Fundraisers, Gold Party Canada serves the communities in which it does business. When we partner with a worthwhile cause like a hospital, school or place of worship, the results are truly special: Supporters make money by selling their unwanted gold jewellery and Gold Party Canada donates, on a dollar-for-dollar basis, 10% percent of the total value of gold purchased.
- 5 An incredible 99% of our Agents are women – and each has the spirit of an entrepreneur. The skills they develop during their time with Gold Party Canada are easily applied at their full-time job or to their Next Big Thing. As an organization, we work hard each day to promote their advancement and nurture their business acumen.

If you have friends, family and co-workers who share the same values and are interested in earning an amazing second income, you can help them get ahead.
